WASHINGTON, April 26.—President Hoover's personal spokesman in the senate, Senator Walcott (R) of Connecticut, who initiated the Senate inquiry into stock market speculation, today was being quietly eased out of the picture.

A special steering committee assumed control of the investigation as Walcott was pushed into retirement. Control of the inquiry was taken from Walcott by Senator Norbeck (R) of South Dakota, insurgent chairman of the Senate Banking and Currency Committee. He named Senator Couzens (R) of Michigan, richest man in the Senate, and Senator Glass (D) of Virginia, a former secretary of the treasury, to aid him in directing the inquiry.

Mystery Witness

A so-called "mystery witness" was to be heard today by the committee. He was Rep. LaGuardia (R) of New York, according to reliable information given International News Service.

LaGuardia attracted attention, in connection with the stock market inquiry, when he appealed to the Washington police to protect a mass of documents he received from New York. The documents were given in charge of detectives, the first con-

Miss Parker told police she believed she was a witness in a recent stabbing that took the life of one man.

One bullet passed over her head, the girl said when she reached the door of the house. Frightened she ran to another side of the street where an automobile, containing two men was parked. Three more shots were fired, she said but all went wild.

She remained with the men, she said, until a street-car arrived. Boarding the car, Miss Parker rode directly to the police station and informed them of the shooting.

The girl said she would confer with District Attorney Andrew T. Park today.

Checks aggregating $199,000 were turned over to the owners of the five properties on the Diamond, which have been acquired by the United States Treasury Department as a site for the new post office.

The money was paid over by Assistant Federal District Attorney W. J. Aiken of Pittsburgh, who arrived here yesterday and met the property owners and their attorneys.

The prices paid for the separate parcels was as follows: Smith, $8,800; Clark, $27,000; Kulkin, $37,200; McCormick, $52,500; and Wallace, $73,500.

Razing Comes Next

With the plans for the new post office structure already approved by the government, the next step will be the razing of the buildings so that construction work can be started as soon as possible.

Nothing was said at the meeting here yesterday relative to clearing the site, but it is expected that the present tenants will be given notice to vacate within the next few days.

With a total of $525,000 appropriated for the project, there remains $326,000 to be used in the construction and equipping of the building.

City Finances Better This Year
Than During 1931
Period

Director of city finance Albert Hoyland today said the city of New Castle would repay $20,000 of $50,000, borrowed since January 1 to a local banking institution, today. He also confirmed the statement of Controller P. G. Greer that the city is better financially for the first four months of 1932, than it was in 1931.

It was necessary to borrow $100,000, last year to pay current debts but only needed to borrow $50,000, this year.

The officials said that tax payments for 1932 are being paid quite well.

interested in knowing something about it, found 25 girls and boys quartered under the motherly care of Miss Mary Glenn, the director. Stop in sometime to see the efficiency in operation.

The fire gongs sent another large crowd to last night's fire.

One monster van, carrying a Massachusetts license, almost eliminated one of Washington street's cross-street traffic lights. It was just one of those wonders that it didn't.

The first Friday in May for the county's Boy Scout troops already has a huge red circle about it. On that date teams of First Aid students, recruited from New Castle, Ellwood City and other points, will contest for the honor of representing the locality at a later Pittsburgh meet.

With $199,000 paid over by the United States government for the site for the new post office on the public square, on Monday afternoon, it should be possible to get the work under way in the near future. At least razing of the present structures could be started within a very short time, and the site cleared ready for the new building by the time that the contract is let.

Quite a number of New Castle voters were unable to cast their ballot today, because of having moved within the past few weeks, and being unable to register in their new precinct.

Most of the voting today was to be done in the afternoon, early indications at the polls showed. The vote cast in the early morning hours was lighter than usual. This was probably due to the use of daylight savings time in the city, with the polls operating on Eastern Standard time.

Rope barriers stretched along East Washington street at Mill street, force pedestrians to walk in the street. Yesterday was not quite so nice for the walkers as the cartway was wet and automobiles operating by splashed so much water that it was difficult for pedestrians to keep from having clothing dirtied. Debris has not been cleaned from the North Mill street sidewalk.

JURORS WILL HEAR
ARGUMENTS TODAY
IN MASSIE TRIAL

Limit was imposed by Judge Charles S. Davis.

The question of the judge's instructions to the jury was finally settled at a conference between Darrow, Prosecutor John C. Kelley and Judge Davis, with both sides forced to yield on many of their requests, it was learned.

Darrow frankly admitted that he has difficulty in understanding the mentality of the jury, composed as it is of six "haoles" (Hawaiian word for white men), four part Hawaiians and two Chinese.

"When it comes my turn to argue I will speak to them in simple language which they all can understand," said Darrow.

Dramatic Highlights.

Two dramatic highlights were etched on the minds of the jury during the closing testimony. One was the near-collapse of Mrs. Fortescue, who wept profusely as Dr. Catton reviewed the testimony in the case and dwelt at length on the attack by five hoodlums on Mrs. Massie. The second was the battle of wits between Darrow and Dr. Catton, with the honors coming off about even.

Dr. Catton is planning to sail for San Francisco today on the S. S. President Hoover with another state alienist, Dr. Paul Bowers. Dr. Catton was so anxious to return to the mainland that he asked Gov. Lawrence Judd to intercede for reservations on the steamer.

Mrs. Fortescue was reported to be increasingly nervous as the case neared the jury. Intimate friends said she has suffered intensely during the past three and a half months and that she looks years older, her face being drawn and lined.

Lieut. Massie is also showing the strain. His cheeks are sunken and he is nervous and unable to sleep. Only the two enlisted men, Albert O. Jones and E. L. Lord, appear as carefree as ever.

Deaths of the Day

Mrs. Angie A. Westlake.

Mrs. Angie A. Westlake, widow of John S. Westlake, died at the family residence, 509 Highland avenue, Tuesday morning, April 26, at 12:45. She had been an invalid since a little more than five years ago when she broke her hip, but had not been confined to her bed until about three weeks ago. Death was caused by a general breakdown. She was 76 years old.

Mrs. Westlake was one of New Castle's well known and well loved women, and had lived in this city almost half a century. She was born January 9, 1856, in Venango county, Pennsylvania, and was a daughter of David and Rose Williams Eakin. She taught school for a few years and was married May 30, 1878, to John Sumner Westlake of Millbrook, Mercer county. In 1889 the family came to this city and has been identified with the life of the community ever since.

Shortly after coming to New Castle, Mrs. Westlake united with the First M. E. church and had always taken an active part in the work of the church and of its Home and Foreign Missionary societies. She was for many years an energetic worker in the Social Union of the church and was president of that organization for a number of years previous to her death. She was one of the early members of the Reading Circle of '89, which later became the Woman's club, and when she was no longer able to attend its meetings she was made an honorary member of that organization. Her clarity and quickness of mentality combined with a keen sense of humor made her a valued member of any social or civic group, and her never-failing interest in others and warm generosity bestowed upon her the gift of making many friends.

She was the last of her immediate family of three sisters and one brother, and survived her husband, John S. Westlake, by five years. Surviving are four children: Mrs. Jessie Cunningham, widow of Major Joseph S. Cunningham, who is at home; Frederick E. of Evanston, Ill.; Miss Helen R. and George S. Westlake, both at home. There are also two grandchildren, Nancy Lloyd Westlake, daughter of George S. and Helen Louise, daughter of Frederick E. Westlake.

Funeral services will be held from the home at 2:30 p. m. E. S. T. from the home with Dr. H. C. Weaver, pastor of the First Methodist church, officiating. Interment will be made in Oak Park cemetery.

Felix Delmez.

New Castle lost one of her talented architects and mausoleum builders Monday, when Felix Delmez, aged 59, of 1709 Neshannock Boulevard, died in the New Castle hospital, following a short illness of pneumonia.

Mr. Delmez was born in France, July 4, 1872, the son of Maximilian and Eugenia Delmez, and had been a resident of New Castle the past fifteen years and during that time had made himself a host of friends, through his general personality and winning qualities as a business man and artist.

Mr. Delmez had been a mausoleum architect and contractor for the past thirty five years and these splendid stone and marble structures of his hand stand throughout the United States and Canada. Among those in this vicinity are the Oak Park Mausoleum; the Rose Hill Mausoleum, Butler; others in Lima, Ohio; Detroit, Mich., where the beautiful Evergreen monument and another, were the work of his brain and hand; Wheeling, W. Va., and many other places.

He was born in Franklin township, Butler county, and spent the greater part of his life in the Butler county district. At the age of 16 he enlisted in Company D, Fourth Pennsylvania Cavalry at Pittsburgh and served in the major offensive of the Northern army during the closing days of the campaign. He was the youngest to enlist from this county. He was in the service for 18 months and was wounded near the close of the war. He was honorably discharged at the end of the war.

LaGuardia Testifies.

WASHINGTON, April 26.—Appearing as a "mystery witness" at the senate investigation of speculation, Rep. Fiorella LaGuardia (R) of New York, today charged brokers helped to inflate market values in order to unload stocks on an unsuspecting public.

LaGuardia declared the statements of brokers that they had nothing to do with promotion of stocks were "deliberately false".

A flurry of excitement preceded LaGuardia's testimony when a photographer's flash bulb fell out of his holder, nearly hitting Senator Glass (D) of Virginia on the head. It exploded on the back of the senator's chair. Spectators jumped and women laughed hysterically. Chairman Norbeck (R) of South Dakota got up with all the resources of the state machine which he has built up since he unhooked the regular organization.

LaGuardia was the last word as far as Kodaks are concerned and to fully appreciate them you must see them.

MUSIC CLUB PROGRAM
AT HIGHLAND CHURCH

Last evening, members of the Music Club gathered in the Highland United Presbyterian church for one of the outstanding events on their year's calendar. The annual election of officers for this group took place and the results follow: president, Miss Gladys Rich; first vice, Mrs. William J. Caldwell; second vice, Mrs. Rachel Taylor; treasurer, Miss Barbara Schulz; assistant treasurer, Miss Martha McGill; corresponding secretary, Miss Ruth Drescher; recording secretary, Mrs. H. H. Rosenthal; Executive Board, Mrs. C. B. Randall and Mrs. H. L. Gordon.

Those assembled were favored with the company of several blind people of Lawrence County, their special invited guests, who too shared the pleasure of this delightful event.

For five minutes preceding the program, Miss Expedita Abruzzini gave a talk and instructed in the correct Italian pronunciation of musical terms. With Mrs. E. O. Fankhouser in charge, a brilliant program was presented, and a large and appreciative audience greeted the varied ensemble numbers. The first selection was given by Robert Duff who possesses a pleasing baritone voice, full and free. The numbers played by Michael Caruso gave full scope to his excellent technique and variety of tone. Two solos by Mrs. William Caldwell with obligatos by Mr. Caruso brought out her pleasant and flexible voice. Her interpretation was charming.

A duet was well sung by Mrs. Robert Fleming and Robert Duff, their voices blending harmoniously. The climax of the program was the two piano ensemble by Miss Helen Ewing and Mrs. Richard Allen who played the solo parts. These talented young pianists perform with exquisite ease and fluency. Throughout the brilliant Liszt number there was spirited vital interpretation. Well deserved praise was given Miss Ewing for her able accompaniments.

Following the program, forty members gathered for chorus rehearsals in preparation for the program to be presented May 23 with Mrs. C. B. Randall as hostess. There will be chorus rehearsal Tuesday evening in the Y. W. C. A. at 7:30 o'clock D. S. T.

The long awaited program by Mr. John Holland of Pittsburgh will be heard on Monday, May 9. Mrs. Paul Welsh will be hostess on this occasion.

CRIME IN ENGLAND ON INCREASE

AMERICA is not the only country to discover that debts and economic, political and social revolutions are not the only legacies of war. There is England, worried about a crime wave that is attributed to the war.

While American jurists and barristers talk endlessly of ending crime here by following the criminal procedure of the British courts, the British parliament is investigating the alarming increase in crime in the British Isles. The home secretary has acknowledged that burglaries, highway robberies and other acts of lawlessness have increased more than 150 per cent since 1913.

About the only difference between conditions in the two countries seems to be that young men under 21 constitute the chief problem in the United States while the British police and courts are dealing mainly with men between the ages of 25 and 30 years.

In both countries the disruption of home relationships by the war and the changing industrial and social schemes are blamed for the growth of crime, and the cure usually proposed is accelerated justice and greater severity of punishment. And yet England remembers how crime spread when English justice did not trouble itself with trials or evidence and gibbets were nearly as numerous as telephone poles are today.

DOCTORS TURN TO ADVERTISING

The Hudson County Medical Society in New Jersey has broken away from the ethics of the profession that physicians and surgeons must not advertise. It has published in a number of papers in the country the first of several advertisements, listing the names of its 450 members. Other advertisements will explain the services its members are prepared to give.

The chairman of the publicity committee explains that the advertising is to protect the public against the practice of irresponsible doctors, but there is a suspicion that back of it is self-interest as well as public interest.

That the Jersey doctors should adopt the publicity methods of business shows a growing appreciation of the part printer's ink has in every-day affairs. Their experiment will arouse wide interest among doctors and patients.

INTELLIGENCE TESTS FOR VOTERS

Nearly half the States in the Union have a literacy test for voters. Two years ago the National Education Association adopted a resolution urging that citizenship should be based on ability to read and write English understandingly, together with evidence of knowledge of the outstanding facts of American history and the principles of American Government.

The association would have a test devised by the Federal Office of Education and administered by the Bureau of Naturalization which should issue a certificate to applicants who satisfactorily passed an examination, or could prove to have completed elementary school work covering eight years in the United States.

Perhaps the next step in contemplated reforms would be the use of intelligence tests. The matter is hinted in an article written by Samuel R. Elson, director of the division of adult immigrant education in the Nebraska Department of Public Instruction. Something might be said in favor of intelligence tests rather than mere tests of knowledge in elementary facts of American history and civics, provided the matter were honestly handled. Intelligence tests measure functional capacity, not amount of data in storage. It would be wrong, for instance, to ask a candidate whether he considered willingness to bear arms should be a qualification for citizenship and credit him or flunk him on the "right answer" when Justices of the United States Supreme Court have entertained diametrically opposite views on the subject. Certainly political party views ought not to be criteria.

Pennsylvania has not yet adopted the literacy requirement for conferring the franchise. The reform would be desirable. Until it has been accomplished the question of imposing intelligence tests will necessarily remain academic.

MOTOR TRAINS

New York State is increasing its tax on motor trucks 65 per cent. This action is inspired only partly by a need of more revenue. It is also a recognition of the demand of the railroads for more equal taxation of their competitors in transportation.

It will be admitted that railroads on the whole have been unfairly dealt with in this regard. Paying heavy taxes themselves, they have seen their business reduced by a form of freight-hauling which has its roadway provided and maintained at public expense. Taxes for huge freight trucks, in license fees and other forms, have risen considerably in recent years, yet hardly enough to strike anywhere near a fair balance with the railroads.

Strangely enough the general public which pays for the highways and drives on them, has been much less insistent than the railroads in asserting its own claims. Whatever may be said for the huge freight trucks, many coupled together, which thunder along main highways like small freight trains, it can hardly be maintained that they belong on present-day roads.

Eventually we shall probably have special roadways for them. Meanwhile there is good reason to hold down their weight, size and number by definite limitations and adequate taxation.

London's new "semi-ready-to-wear suit" probably has half the tags off.

There are some persons who seem to prefer failure to minding their own business.

A Quiet Game of Croquet
While Guns Thundered
With Two Old Ladies

By MARSHALL MASLIN

Sometimes, when I think of the days of the war, I remember a famous chateau, where we rested for a few weeks after a victorious attack—by the Germans.

It was old and strong, that castle, and it stood high on a hill above a little town. Its walls rose sheer from a deep moat, and it had a ponderous drawbridge and a courtyard was sunny and warm in that bloody spring. We could climb long, narrow stairs to its top-most turrets and look out toward the smoke and thunder of the front. We could descend to dark and stinking dungeons, where the prisoners of other wars had been chained and forgotten. In the courtyard, in the sunshine, by the old well, we'd sit and scan the seams of our garments, as soldiers always done.

The old castle was government property, and its caretaker was a old and feeble man. He had two daughters, tall and lean and middle aged, and very proper and exceedingly unmarried. And one of them had an artificial leg. They looked on us as children from another land—and sometimes they'd invite us in to tea.

Outside the great gate, on a flat place above the moat, there was a little lawn. And the lawn, in quieter days, had been a croquet court, which had not been used for many years. ... We found the wickets and the balls and the mallets, and persuaded the old ladies to let us use the court.

So sometimes, at dusk, a couple of American soldiers and two French ladies would have a game of croquet. We'd come in, from our duty at the front, weary and disgusted and profoundly bored with the mess of men at war—and eat and sleep and clean ourselves and wonder what to do. ... And we'd have a game.

We were very polite and the old ladies were extremely lady-like and we were perfect gentlemen. The game was fierce and noisy and no quarter was given or asked.

But sometimes we'd look up from the rolling, clicking wooden balls and hear the heavy clarmor of war and once or twice a great shell screamed overhead and landed in the streets of the village below. It was ironic, but somehow it was soothing to be playing croquet with a couple of old ladies in this little interlude of war—knowing that today we might have died, knowing that after tomorrow we might never play again.

It's a memory that does not fade, that has lingered far longer than some of the violent scenes of war, and it will last, I think, until I am older than the old ladies' father and have long ceased mentioning the war to people who never were a part of it.

POSESSION
No need to go grasping and clutching at pleasure.
I can always find something to do with my leisure.
There is always a friend it is pleasant to sit with;
There is always a volume to revel in with;
And always the children, my own and the neighbors.
To fill up the time when I'm done with my labors.

No need to have oodles of cash in my pocket.

I'm a box of delight if I care to unlock it—

I've stored up with me, or should have, I reckon.

All sorts of enjoyment when cares cease to beckon.

There are games I can play and can right well afford em—

It's all my own fault if I find life is boredom.

ADD DEPRESSION
A loafer complains that he has a wolf, but no door to keep him away from.

AN EAST SIDE LADY SAID HER HUSBAND TOOK UP ASTRONOMY JUST SO THAT HE COULD GET OUT AT NIGHT.

A tough bird we know was operated on last week and the surgeon had to make the incision with a blow torch.

SOCIAL ACCOMPLISHMENTS
One of our rotund comedians is getting so fat around the neck that his valet has to jack up his chin to change his collar for him.

A great man is never evaluated at his true worth by his countrymen as long as he is among the living.

The jealousies of rivals: the sneers of little men who strike at any leader whose thinking differs from that of the pack; the calumnies of vicious tongues that peddle unthinkable slanders; the tendency of men to measure any man by their own earthly standards, all contrive to leave the true measurement of greatness to posterity.

NO TRAFFIC COP HAS NERVE ENOUGH TO TELL HIS WIFE SHE CAN'T MAKE A LEFT HAND TURN.

IT WASN'T FOR THE COCKTAIL SHAKER lots of people wouldn't get any exercise.

DRAT 'EM
The flies are pesky things. And 'course we don't want them around—

But skeeters are far worse For they think we're a feeding ground.

THEY COULDNT' DIVERSIONS INSIDE OF ME HIDDEN.

IF I'LL BUT FORGET THAT I'M BEING CARE-RIDDEN.

NO NEED TO GO SEEKING THE GAY PLEASURES ONLY.

THE MAKING OF A MASTER

To hold one's temper under the assaults of malice.

To be able to wait until the time for action has come.

To be cheerful, even when viewing the prospect of trouble.

To have an opinion and be able to give others the same right.

To be able to maintain discipline among your own emotions.

To meet opposition without losing your self-control.

To have a faith that the universe is your ally when you are right.

THE CRACK OF THE DAY

HOLLYWOOD, April 25.—A well known featured player who happens to be very unpopular at the studio, showed up late the other afternoon with a signed statement from her physician. "I won't be able to work today," she said. "I have a certificate from my doctor, saying that I can't act." "We all know that," replied the director. "You don't understand," said Ivan. "You are working only for money, and doubtless have the ambition to get rich."

"I'll say I have," said Bill, "but what of it? Everybody that's human wants all he can get out of life. It's no sin to make money."

"It is a crime," declared Ivan. "In our view there is no greater wrong than the lust for private gain."

"My Gosh!" said Bill. "What an idea! What's the sense in working hard if you can't get ahead?"

"But we do get ahead, as you express it," said Ivan. "The difference is that we labor unselfishly and not for personal gain."

ADmits VISIT

(International News Service)
INDIANA, Pa., April 26.—Reuben Johns, 53, farm laborer and odd-jobs man, was placed under arrest at his home at Huff, near here, today in connection with the murder of John Reisinger, 68, reputedly wealthy bachelor-hermit, whose body was found wrapped in a blood-soaked blanket at Reisinger's home yesterday.

Johns steadfastly denied any knowledge of the crime although he admitted he had visited Reisinger at the latter's home Sunday night. Dr. Fred W. St. Clair, Indiana county coroner, fixed the time of the murder at about 12:30 a. m., Monday.

County Detective Harry E. Kooser, who arrested Johns today, said that the prisoner had visited the home of a nephew, Floyd Luger, in the nearby village of Robinson. Kooser reported that two checkbooks, each issued in Reisinger's name and each drawn on a different bank in Blairsville, were found under the Luger home.

Suicide Doubted

Reisinger's death was at first attributed to suicide. A bullet hole had been drilled through his head. Absence of the weapon impelled authorities to change the suicide theory to that of murder and Johns' capture resulted.

The body of the recluse was found on the kitchen floor of his home by a neighbor who, alarmed at Reisinger's absence, peered through the window of the kitchen and discerned the blanket-shrouded body on the floor.

The cases of Wilfred Jean and Freda Thibodeau against Charles Ruzicka, growing out of an automobile accident on the New Castle-Beaver road, which was taken up in court before Judge Chambers yesterday morning, is still on trial before Judge Chambers today.

The defendant, Charles Ruzicka, testified that he was driving on the right hand side of the road in the direction of New Castle. The Thibodeau car was behind him. Near the Piedmont farm he saw the lights of a car approaching from the opposite direction.

He claimed that when the car was about 150 feet from him he noticed that it was on the wrong side of the road. Ruzicka said he pulled his right side wheels off the concrete, but the approaching car sideswiped him on the left side. The impact threw his car directly across the road. The car that he claimed sideswiped him, collided with the Ruzicka car which was coming behind him.

Tony Lasso, who was driving the car which was alleged to have sideswiped the Ruzicka car, claimed that he was driving on the right hand side of the road, that his right wheels were off the concrete, when the Ruzicka car sideswiped him. The testimony of the two drivers was very conflicting as to their position on the road at the time of the accident. The case is still on trial.

SUIT IS BROUGHT AGAINST EXECUTRIX

David John has filed a suit at the prothonotary's office against Mary Flynn, executrix, to collect $425. According to the statement of claim Fred J. and Bridget Flynn on May 15, 1928 rented a house from David John. Frank P. Flynn went bail for the rent. The claim ran up to $490. The lessee's personal property was sold for $65, and the proceeds applied on the rent, leaving a balance of $425, for which the suit is brought against the bondsman's estate.

The cases of Wilfred Jean and Freda Thibodeau against Charles Ruzicka, growing out of an automobile accident on the New Castle-Beaver road, which was taken up in court before Judge Chambers yesterday morning, is still on trial before Judge Chambers today.

The defendant, Charles Ruzicka, testified that he was driving on the right hand side of the road in the direction of New Castle. The Thibodeau car was behind him. Near the Piedmont farm he saw the lights of a car approaching from the opposite direction.

He claimed that when the car was about 150 feet from him he noticed that it was on the wrong side of the road. Ruzicka said he pulled his right side wheels off the concrete, but the approaching car sideswiped him on the left side. The impact threw his car directly across the road. The car that he claimed sideswiped him, collided with the Ruzicka car which was coming behind him.

Tony Lasso, who was driving the car which was alleged to have sideswiped the Ruzicka car, claimed that he was driving on the right hand side of the road, that his right wheels were off the concrete, when the Ruzicka car sideswiped him. The testimony of the two drivers was very conflicting as to their position on the road at the time of the accident. The case is still on trial.

Farmers in the area said it seemed as though the cloud of insects was 500 miles wide in some places and three times that long.

There was an attempt to attack them from motor trucks, but the trucks were quickly outdistanced. Airplanes could accomplish little, and the authorities said all they could do was to wait until the locusts began to breed and then attack the swarms separately.

Annual Play Of Princeton High Friday Evening

Junior Class Will Present "The Red-Headed Step Child" This Week

The annual play of the junior class of Princeton high school will be presented on Friday evening April 29 at 8 o'clock in the school auditorium.

Miss Mary Alice Neill is directing the production, a three act comedy drama entitled "The Red-Headed Step Child," which includes a cast of 13 characters.

The plot is a recital of events in which Bess, an heiress and daughter of a wealthy broker is taken from her primitive home on a Montana ranch and transplanted into the ultra-fashionable home of her step mother in Chicago. Her desire to rush into society brings about many humorous complications, especially when she attempts to undress the damage already wrought. The cast of characters includes the following:

Richard Russell—Dale Myers. Mrs. Edith Russell—Mary Wright. Mrs. Woodruff—Viola Munnell. Mrs. Scott—Flora Heichel. Dudley Russell—Samuel Fowler. Lucia Russell—Evelyn Hunt. Bess Russell—Norma Glasser. George Garrison—George Fox. Beatrice Shular—Flora Farnum. Ethel Ashley—Leona Eckert. Jane Allen—Ethel McElwain. Lucille Christy—Lucille Gross. Briggs—John Young.

NEW SHREDDED BISCUIT MORE ECONOMICAL

Just One of the Improvements Developed for Kellogg's WHOLE WHEAT Biscuits

When the Kellogg Company were perfecting their new shredded biscuit, they decided that one of the improvements would be in the size of the biscuit. Kellogg's WHOLE WHEAT Biscuits are a new, convenient size. Two are just right for a serving and fit the cereal bowl without crumpling. Also you get 15 to the package, instead of the usual dozen.

The new Kellogg biscuits have a most delicious taste and crispness. They are "pressure-cooked"—a special process that bakes in the rich flavor. And every biscuit is double toasted—browned on both top and bottom.

Of even greater interest is the fact that Kellogg's WHOLE WHEAT Biscuits are so rich in food value that every package is certified by the Medical Arts Laboratory of Philadelphia. "Pressure-cooking" retains all the food value of the whole wheat, as well as making the biscuit easier to digest.

You'll find these new shredded biscuits a very welcome improvement. Delightful with hot or cold milk or cream, fruits or honey added—for breakfast, lunch, the children's supper.

Grocers say that sales are steadily increasing. Identify this improved cereal by the familiar red-and-green Kellogg's package. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

Mrs. Roosevelt Not Excited Over Matter Of Coming Election

Wife Of New York State Governor Continues Occupation As Teacher

Making Plans To Resume Teaching In Fall, Hands Out Fine Philosophy

By DOROTHY DUCAS International News Service Staff Correspondent

Copyright, 1932, By International News Service

NEW YORK, April 26.—"Never meet a situation until you come to it."

This is the creed of Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt, wife of the governor of New York state, who is one of the chief possibilities for the Democratic nomination to the presidency.

While the country discusses at length the chances of the Roosevelt family being the next occupants of the White House, Mrs. Roosevelt goes about her own business,毫不 oblivious to the prospect of a great change in the tenor of her ways.

Will Resume Teaching.

"I am planning for next winter as I did for this one," she told me. "I will begin the school year on October 1, as always. If my husband should be nominated by chance, it would be time enough to consider what I would do."

For Mrs. Roosevelt is a teacher at the Todhunter school here; she has come down from Albany for three days every week ever since her husband became chief executive of this state. She also owns a furniture factory at Hyde Park, N. Y., which a partner runs. She is on numerous club boards, and speaks often at educational gatherings.

Her life is so full, and has been so completely her own life, that it seems unbelievable she could ever surrender it, even to be first lady of the land. When Franklin D. Roosevelt was made governor, there were many who predicted she would give up her various activities to be hostess at the executive mansion in Albany. But no—she merely added what job on to the rest.

Rare Intelligence.

Honors and rewards make singularly little impression on the dispassionate, keen-witted personality of Governor Roosevelt's wife. She is a woman of rare intelligence, unusually wide interests. She is gentle, sympathetic, and withal impersonal, somewhat deliberate. She knows what the country is saying about her husband, but she shuts out the talk without any effort. Time enough to think of it later.

There is no pretense about her. Does she want her husband to have the nomination?

"Oh, I want him to have anything he has started out for."

"Would she like it?"

"If I were a man, I should hate it. The responsibility would be fearful. Being a woman—well, I don't think there is any honor for the wife of the man honored. I would be proud of my husband, but I wouldn't have had anything to do with it."

The sleuthing instincts of 18-year-old Angelina Vitigliano (above), of Los Angeles, recently resulted in the arrest of Mrs. Giovanna Granna as a fugitive from California. Angelina accuses Mrs. Granna of mulcting her mother, Mrs. Angelo Vitigliano, out of $160,000. The girl came upon the trail of the woman while searching for her father, who disappeared 15 years ago.

Drive For Million Men At Work In Country By Legion Is Advancing Rapidly

PHILADELPHIA, April 26.—With a continued demonstration of cooperation, a total of 594,102 persons have been given employment since the beginning of the national employment campaign, James J. Degan, state adjutant of the American Legion, announced today.

Pennsylvania posts are lending every effort towards the success of this program. Adjutant Degan stated further. Reports today show that the following number of persons have been returned to work in Pennsylvania cities:

Cheltenham, 80; Elizabethtown, 15; Mahanoy City, 600; Scranton, 8; Stroudsburg, 250; Washington, 34.

Reindeer Meat Saves Eskimos From Starvation

(International News Service) WASHINGTON, April 26.—The reindeer of Alaska this winter are credited with averting a severe famine situation among the Eskimos, according to the department of the interior.

Food shortage in the Kotzebue Sound region, including the Eskimo villages of Deering, Buckland, Selawick, Shungnak, Noorvik, was alleviated by quick action on the part of the Bureau of Indian Affairs in rushing supplies of reindeer meat to the villages.

With proper supervision of the herds of reindeer, it was pointed out by the bureau, there could be no possibility of a really critical food shortage arising in this section.

The reindeer was originally introduced into Alaska from Siberia between the years of 1891-1902, with the purpose of providing relief for the natives who derive food and clothing from the animal. The number of these animals imported was 1,280 and this small herd has since multiplied into approximately 700,000 heads. Of this number the government owns between 10,000 and 12,000.

The bureau hastily transferred the polling place to a nearby dwelling.

The bureau hastily transferred the polling place to a nearby dwelling.

Erie Motorist Is Held For Killing Of Boy With Auto

(International News Service)

ERIE, Pa., April 26.—Argallis Wesley Bennett, 50, of Erie, was held by city police today on a charge of involuntary manslaughter, as a result of the death of Andrew Huzarewicz, three and one-half year old boy.

The boy died from injuries suffered last Saturday when he was alleged to have been struck by Bennett's automobile.

A warrant sworn out by the boy's father, Paul Huzarewicz, resulted in Bennett's arrest at his home here. Bennett, declaring the accident was unavoidable, told police the boy darted out from the curb into the path of the car which he was driving. The boy was dragged 60 feet, Bennett said, before he could bring his car to a halt.

An inquest will be held by Coroner Walter G. Stroble.

AT LEAST, HE IS

WORLD CITIZEN

ST. JOHNSBURY, Vt., April 26.—Rosario Allard is a man without a country. Neither the United States nor Canada will claim him as a citizen.

Allard was born in Derby Line. The international boundary went through the middle of the house. United States authorities now are trying to determine in which room he was born.

Allard's troubles began when he tried to enter the United States at Derby Line in search of employment. Canadian authorities told him he belonged to the United States anyway and sent him over the line.

United States customs officers disagreed with their Canadian colleagues and promptly sent Allard back across the border to Rock Island, Quebec.

Allard succeeded in again crossing the line and reaching this place. This morning he was taken into custody by St. Johnsbury police and held for United States officers.

NEW RATE IS BOON
TO MONTANA MILLS

(International News Service)

HELENA, Mont., April 26.—All Montana grain carriers have granted Montana flour mills an equal rate between the domestic and export destined shipments of wheat to the Pacific coast, which means a big saving to Montana grain growers and shippers, according to grain buyers.

For years the railroad received 39 cents a bushel to ship wheat to Pacific coast mills, while wheat shipped to the same point for export took a toll of only 32 cents a bushel. The Interstate Commerce Commission finally granted an equal rate. Coast millers protested and threw the equalized rate in the supreme court. The Montana millers then appealed to the roads which granted the equal rate in spite of coast millers' continued protests. The equal rate gives Montana grain growers and mills a big leverage in getting Montana wheat into coast markets.

CEREAL RELIEVED HIS CONSTIPATION

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN Brought
New Health

Every one who has suffered from constipation should read Mr. P. M.
Fisher's letter:

"For many years I suffered from constipation and used, for relief, all kinds of laxatives. After a few days' treatment, I would only find my condition the same as before and at times worse.

"Some time ago I started to use
Kellogg's ALL-BRAN regularly, once a day as directed. Since doing this,
I have found that I do not need any other medicine to procure the desired result, and it keeps me in a very healthful condition."—Mr.
P. M. Fisher, 352 Evergreen Place,
Ridgewood, N. J.

Constipation is caused by lack of two things in the diet: "Bulk" to exercise the intestines; Vitamin B to tone the intestinal tract. ALL-BRAN supplies both—and also iron for the blood.

The "bulk" in ALL-BRAN is much like that in lettuce. Inside the body, it forms a soft mass, which gently clears out the wastes.

How much safer this is than risking pills and drugs—so often harmful. Just eat two tablespoonsfuls daily—in serious cases, with every meal. If your intestinal trouble is not relieved in this way, see your doctor.

Equally tasty as a cereal, or used in cooking. Get the red-and-green package at your grocer's. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

For a number of years John D. Rockefeller, millionaire oil magnate, drove this carriage while passing his summers in New England states. Later he presented it to J. S. Rockefeller, a first cousin, who is a dairyman of New Lon-

Weekly Health Talk

"One of the most satisfactory marks of progress in the public health field has been the increased intelligence concern for the welfare of children. Receiving official impetus by way of a congressional resolution in 1924, child-health efforts on the part of health officials have been consistently, conscientiously and comprehensively enlarged. The result has been that never in the history of the United States, nor any other nation for that matter, has child welfare occupied the justly preeminent position that it does today," states Doctor Theodore B.
Appel, State Secretary of Health.

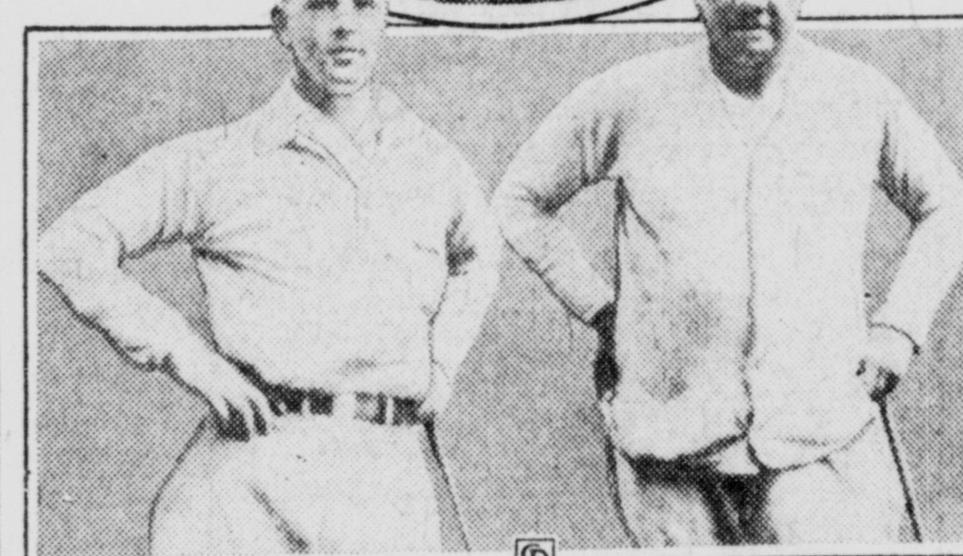

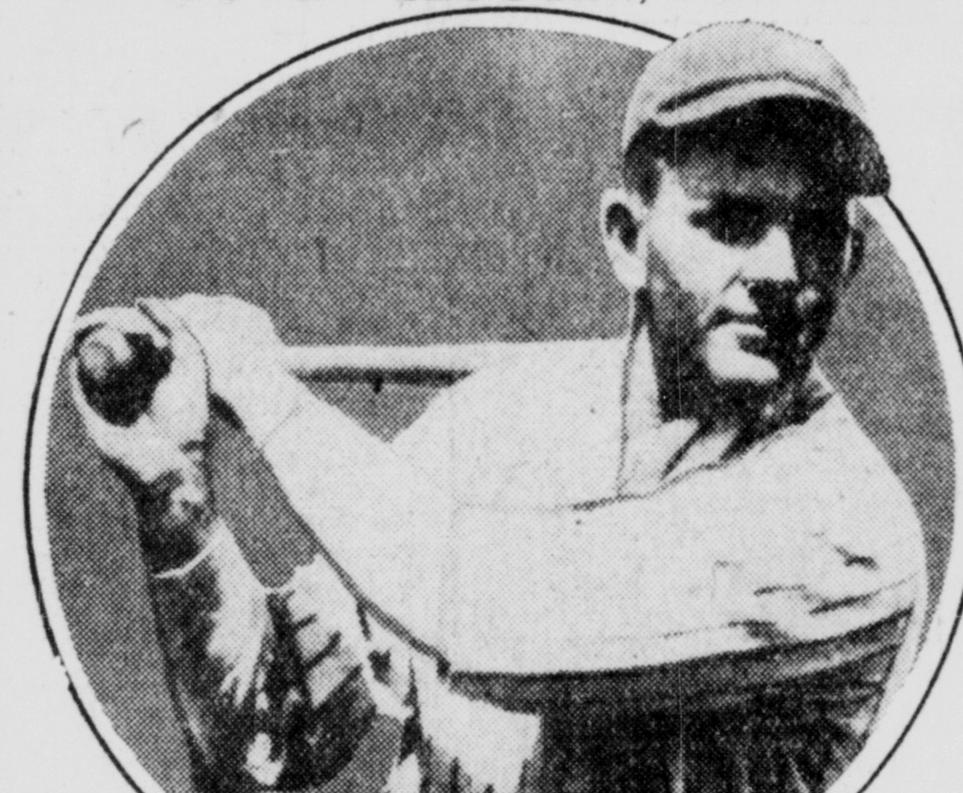

"The Department of Health, in

As Dawes Opposed Bonus

Sounding a warning that inflation of currency for the purpose of paying the veterans' bonus would have a disastrous effect on the American monetary and credit system, General Charles G. Dawes, former Ambassador to Great Britain and now head of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation, is shown as he testified before the House Ways and Means Committee. Gen. Dawes called Wall Street "a peanut stand" and said too much attention was paid to its activities.

PARIS, April 26.—A mysterious French woman, with auburn hair, blue eyes and a Mona Lisa smile, whose life intertwined with that of the late Ivar Kreuger for a decade, lay seriously ill in a hospital on the Riviera today.

She still does not know that the millionaire Swedish industrialist who was her protector for more than ten years is dead.

Stricken by worry over the financial crisis which cut short the strange life of the man whose business adventures and love affairs have startled the world, the woman, known only as "Madame B.", was seriously ill in a Paris hospital at the time of his suicide.

Is Not Told.

Her friends dared not tell her of the tragedy. When she asked why he had not come to visit her, she was told he was absent on a business trip. When Paris overflowed with tales of Kreuger and revelations of his crookedness and his forgeries, she was taken to the Riviera, lest the stories that were on every tongue reach her ears.

The smart couturiers of the Rue de la Paix knew "Madame B." as a woman who bought well but not extravagantly. To one Mannequin she confided she considered herself a "biological accident" and with characteristic mystery refused to explain what she meant.

Had New York Home.
NEW YORK, April 26.—The Park Avenue penthouse retreat of Ivar Kreuger, the dead Swedish match king who gambled with life and love and gold, was for rent today.

With its floors and walls covered with priceless rugs and tapestries, paintings and etchings, the penthouse apartment was one of many in the joy capitals of the world which the late match king maintained for his pleasure.

The sole occupant of the nine-room apartment now is a beautiful woman, about 30, believed to have been the housekeeper of Kreuger.

For six years this woman has lived there and has only been seen when she went walking along Park avenue with a blueblooded canine dog.

Kreuger, when in New York, would visit the lavishly furnished penthouse. He always came on foot.

One in Stockholm.

STOCKHOLM, April 26.—To the ever-growing list of beautiful women associates of the late Ivar Kreuger, Swedish "match king", today was added the name of Mme. Ingeborg Eberth, prominent Stockholm society figure, who was revealed as the chief beneficiary in the late magnate's will.

Mme. Eberth was hesitant to discuss details of her relations with Kreuger, but spoke of him as a "fine and noble man" and stated he never would have resorted to forgery and deceit in his business affairs "if someone had not pressed him to do it."

Was Charming Man.

Mme. Eberth said she had known Kreuger for 17 years. Sitting in her lavishly furnished salon, she told how he had frequently come to visit her, brushing away his numerous cares by sitting at her grand piano and improvising sentimental pieces.

"He was a man of great charm," Mme. Eberth said.

Kreuger bequeathed Mme. Eberth more than $100,000 in his will. But she will not receive the money, as Kreuger spent his entire personal fortune attempting to save his companies from collapse.

FRANCIS J. MULVILHILL

Members of the Shade Tree Commission and the New Castle Garden club are looking forward with expectancy to the coming of Francis J. Mulvihill, chief of the division of city planning and municipal engineering, bureau of municipal affairs, of the department of internal affairs, who will give an illustrated lecture on tree planting, and their care in the senior high school Thursday evening at 8 o'clock.

Mr. Mulvihill, prior to accepting the state post which he now fills, was planner for the city of Pittsburgh and assistant chief engineer of the department of city planning.

He is well acquainted with everything out-of-doors and knows Pennsylvania flora and fauna in its every branch.

Officers of the Shade Tree Commission strongly urge every nature and tree lover in the city to attend this lecture, particularly parents, as the commission is making an effort to educate the citizens of New Castle in a tree-planting program in an effort to beautify the city and make it a more attractive and livable community.

In addition to the address by Mr. Mulvihill, there will be numbers by the senior high school orchestra and a solo "Trees" by Paul M. Welsh, accompanied by his wife.

Street Car And Bus Operators
Reduce Number Of Accidents Greatly

Street car and bus operators of the Penn-OHIO Transportation system in Youngstown, Sharon and New Castle districts set up a notable safety record for the first quarter of 1932. In this three-month period accidents of all kinds were reduced 20 per cent as compared with the corresponding period in 1931.

The fine record established is all the more notable in view of the fact that the 1931 record was the best ever recorded on the lines of the local transportation system. The number of accidents occurring last year was so low that officials of the company felt that there was a small margin left for improvement this year.

The earnest safety work of the operators in all divisions however, continued unabated with the result that the accidents were reduced still further by one-fifth in the first three months of the year.

Big Demand For Books On Life Of Washington

Requests Are Still Frequent At Free Public Library For This Information

MANY BOOKS ARE AVAILABLE TO PUBLIC

It may be surprising to many to learn the extent of use which is being made of the material on George Washington in the public library. Books on Washington are always in demand in February, but on account of the bicentennial celebration this year, requests for them are still frequent. The following list of books on Washington is selective, not exhaustive. It does not include the many magazine articles, nor the splendid pamphlet material issued by the Bicentennial Commission in Washington, D. C., all of which is in the library. Particularly noteworthy is the acquisition of Washington's Diaries, 4 volumes, and of Letters of Members of the Continental Congress, 5 volumes.

The library is happy to have been able to supply material to teachers, students, clubwomen and many others in questions of history, biography, costume and custom in connection with various forms of celebrating Washington's two-hundredth anniversary. As the official observation continues throughout the year to Thanksgiving Day, the Washington material will be available for use at anytime. Some books are for reference use at the library and others may be borrowed. Earle, A. M.—Home Life in Colonial Days. Fisher, W. A.—The Music That Washington Knew. Haworth, P. Auto Death Toll Shows Increase

Last Year's Figures Show Increase Over 1930 By Belated Returns

(Special To The News)

HARRISBURG, April 26.—The death toll from motor car accidents reached 2,430 for the year 1931 it was announced today by Dr. Emlyn Jones, Chief of the Bureau of Vital Statistics, as all belated returns were compiled in his office, and the final figures entered in the permanent records of the commonwealth.

This is just six more than the year 1930 recorded, the figures for that year reaching 2,424. It had previously been indicated that the totals would show a recession from the previous year, but hopes were dashed with the receipt of all death certificates which, for various reasons, had been delayed.

In 1920 deaths from automobile accidents passed the thousand mark for the first time, and the past 12 years shows a total death toll of 20,445 persons. In the 12 years preceding 1920, the total number of deaths from such accidents reached only 4,650, commencing with an annual rate of 29 for the year of 1908. From 29 in a single year to 2,430—that is the way the death toll has increased, as the years have gone by.

Each succeeding year of the 24 since state records have been kept, has shown a decided gain in such deaths, with the exception of the years 1919, 1924 and 1925. The greatest single year's increase was that of 1930 over 1929, when the figure reached 375 more people killed by motor cars in the latter year than in the former.

The State Department of Health expressed an early opinion that the crest had been reached, and that 1931 would show a decline. Advance estimates proved inaccurate, however, and the final figures registered a gain. It was only a gain of six, to be sure, but it was a gain.

Preliminary figures issued March 1st showing 2,200 fatalities, grew by the addition of later returns to the correct total—2,430 lives snuffed out by the automobile, in Pennsylvania, in 1931.

Save ELASTICITY* and stockings will wear

DON'T BLAME STOCKINGS for those costly runs—actually you may be at fault.

When your stockings are new they are elastic. Made to give under strain. Stretch and spring right back again.

But if you rub the delicate fibres with cake soap so they lose their precious elasticity, they become lifeless, brittle. They break under strain. Then you get those runs!

Why take chances? Lux offers you the sure way to preserve the elasticity that makes stockings WEAR.

The Lux way to save the ELASTICITY that makes stockings wear

Wash this 2-minute way

1. One teaspoon of Lux for each pair.
2. Add lukewarm water, squeeze suds through stockings, rinse well.

Don't rub with cake soap

It ruins elasticity. With Lux there's no rubbing.

Avoid ordinary soaps—cakes, powders, chips. These often contain harmful alkali, which robs silk of its life, weakens threads, fades colors. Lux has no harmful alkali.

Six Known Dead By Wind Storms In Three States

Property Damage Will Run Into Millions Of Dollars, Is Belief

RELIEF WORKERS SURVEY RESULTS

Arkansas, Tennessee And Kentucky Hard Hit, More Than 30 Are Injured

(International News Service) MEMPHIS, Tenn., April 26.—A mounting toll of human lives was anticipated today as relief workers surveyed tragic results of tornadoes which struck wide sections of three states, leaving six known dead and property damage exceeding one million dollars.

Originating in eastern Arkansas, the vicious whirlwinds leaped across the Mississippi river to leave paths of destruction across Tennessee and Kentucky.

More than 30 persons were reported injured. Many were expected to die.

Memphis Hard Hit.

The city of Memphis narrowly escaped the violent windstorms. The heaviest sufferers were the little communities and farms about 20 miles from here where the tornadoes reached their highest fury.

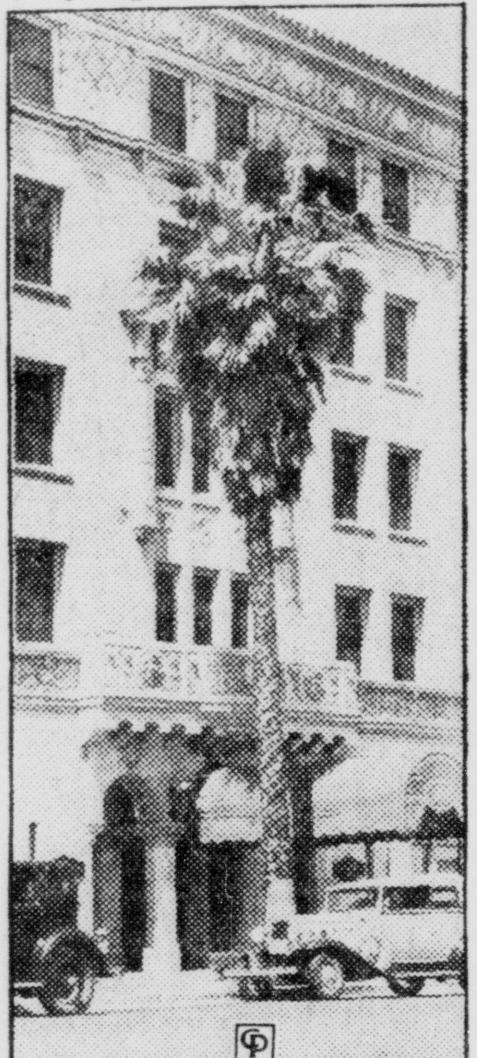

Six persons were killed in Shelby county, of which Memphis is the seat. Three additional deaths were reported at Oscoda, Ark.

Among the dead in this district was Mrs. T. J. Dale, wife of a Millington farmer, and Irene Sparks, six-year-old girl who was killed in the collapse of her home at Hosse-ward.

After the Dale home was shattered by the twister the farmer managed to crawl out of the debris and, with the help of the negro-farmhands, succeeded in digging his wife out of the wreckage. She died shortly afterward.

A few years of present taxes and it will be all right to hang anybody who makes over a million a year.

LINESVILLE, Pa., April 26.—Convinced that the body found in Pyramating swamp is not that of Betty Gray, missing witness against "Pittsburgh Hymie" Martin, convicted of murder in Cleveland, Deputy Coroner R. V. Peterson turned his attention to other possible means of identification.

Indicating that the mystery of the woman's death may go unsolved, a report from Peterson's office said all known clues had already been run down.

Three Candidates For Presidency To Favor Submission

Smith, Ritchie And Baker On Side Of Wets, Hoover, Roosevelt, Garner With Drys

(International News Service) NEW YORK, April 26.—Three out of seven candidates for the presidential nomination have recorded themselves as favoring a party plank calling for submission of the repeal of the 18th Amendment to conventions of the people.

This was revealed today by Mrs. Charles H. Sabin, chairman of the Women's Organization for National Prohibition Reform, who asked the candidates for their views.

Those taking a stand for a platform plank demanding a referendum on prohibition were Alfred E. Smith, Governor Albert C. Ritchie, Maryland, and Newton D. Baker.

The latter made it plain he was not answering as a candidate. President Hoover, Speaker John N. Garner, Governor Franklin D. Roosevelt and Harry F. Byrd did not make any reply.

HUNTS BRENNEMANS
Carlisle, Pa., April 23, 1932.
Editor of the "News,"
New Castle, Pa.

Dear Sir:

I do not know whether you have ever had any experience in compiling a family history, but that is the task I am about at present, and I find it more or less a thankless job. I am tracing the descendants of my ancestor Melchoir Brenneman (1665-1737), who was one of the first settlers of Lancaster County, Pa., and have no motive except to preserve the history of his life and flight from Switzerland to escape religious persecution, his settlement in this country, and a true record of all persons sprung from this sturdy old colonial stock.

In the early part of the last century two or three members of this clan moved to the Beaver Valley when it was a wilderness, and their descendants today are most numerous. One would think that the children of this pioneer family of your section would be proud of their name and interested in having their family record permanently preserved; but I have written to three different families of Brennemans in your city (the directory seems full of them) and have not yet gotten a single response—this in a period of two years.

Will you please print this letter in your paper so that if there should be any Brenneman family in New Castle that is really interested in its ancestral heritage and desires to send in its family record for publication in my book it may have the opportunity to do so? It is costing me too much as it is to collect this information, so that I cannot write to every Brenneman family separately. But if any of the clan wish their record to be included I do not want them to be omitted.

Thanking you in advance for this favor, I am

Very respectfully yours,
ALBERT H. GERBERICH,
Carlisle, Penna.

Ellwood Invades Ambridge For Dual Meet On Wednesday

Locals To Present Strong Aggregation For Annual Affair Tomorrow

ELLWOOD CITY, April 26.—Coach Todd Lloyd will take a strong Ellwood High track team to Ambridge tomorrow afternoon for their annual dual meet to be staged at the high school field.

It is expected that Ellwood will present one of the strongest teams in its history against Ambridge tomorrow. The whole squad is in fine shape after many weeks of training in all kinds of weather. The team will be well balanced, having point scorers in almost every department. Coach Lloyd will practically present a veteran team against Ambridge with the addition of several excellent new stars.

Much is not known here concerning Ambridge's strength this year, but it was recently announced that a new sprinter has been uncovered there who has already beaten Perelli, last year's star. It will be a splendid race between the man and Captain Joe Welsh in the century. Nevertheless Welsh is a strong favorite to cop the 220 yard dash in which he revealed fine form last Friday.

These to make the trip to Ambridge tomorrow will in all probability include Captain Welsh, Leymarie, Mundo, Ralph Strouse, Paul Kuben, Eugene Cavalier, Dick Wilson, Bob Johnson, Tom Barnes, Bob Streetter, Sam Neff, Mike Paal, Andy Segedi, Ed. Vogt, Tom McKim, John Lincoln, Cusato, Viniski and John Savor.

CORNWALLIS RETREATED RAPIDLY TO NEW BRUNSWICK. WASHINGTON PURSUED THE FLEEING FOE BEYOND KINGSTON, BUT GAVE UP THE CHASE AS HIS MEN WERE WORN OUT FROM MARCHING, FIGHTING AND LOSS OF SLEEP. TURNING NORTHWARD, HE CAMPED AT MORRISTOWN, WHERE HE COULD WATCH HOWE'S MOVEMENTS.

Dr. Clendening Tells Why
Bread Is Important
In Diet

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.
Some of the best and most nutritious parts of our diet we regard as side issues—mere accessories. Bread and butter! Just to be eaten with the other things.

The good things about butter were considered yesterday. Its content of the growth vitamin—vitamin A! Its digestibility. Its concentrated energy value. Its content of substances which step up which spark the processes of nutrition.

What about bread? Various breads differ somewhat in composition but, in general, bread is 38 per cent water, 63 per cent organic substances, and 1 per cent inorganic ash. The organic substances are about 10 per cent protein, 52 per cent starch and sugar, and 1 per cent fat. In minerals it is rich in iron, has a good content of phosphorus, and it is poor in calcium—just the opposite of milk, which makes bread and milk a good supplementary diet.

If bread is made with milk instead of water, the calcium content is increased.

Vitamins are not present in bread to any extent. In fact, it is the outstanding examples of a food which is nutritious in every respect except the presence of those subtle elements which are necessary to life. Whole wheat bread contains some vitamin B, but much of that is destroyed in the process of baking.

The energy value of bread is high—1200 calories per pound. An average loaf of bread weighs a pound and a half. So two loaves of bread would furnish nutrition to an average sized person for a day. In other words, for the reducer, it is "fattening."

Summarizing the advantages and disadvantages of bread from a nutritional standpoint, on account of its low water content it is, weight for weight, of high energy value compared to other foods.

It must be eaten as an accessory to other foods because it is far from a complete food. Used as the sole article of diet it would get the consumer into trouble because of, first, its low vitamin content; second, its very low fat content; third, its small proportion of protein. (In an ideal diet the protein is 1 to 4 of carbohydrate; in bread it is 1 to 7 or 8.)

Used as it is customary is with other foods—butter to make up the fat content, milk to make up the protein and vitamins, or in the form of sandwiches with meat or lettuce, etc.—it is in its true place as a splendid form of concentrated energy.

NOTES AND QUERIES

"Alfred Adler was the first to point out that an individual can say 'No!' to life in terms of organic symptoms indistinguishable from the symptoms of disease. Adler demonstrated the fact that the total organism takes an attitude toward the problems of his adjustment to reality, and that where this adjustment is faulty, and the individual feels that he cannot meet his obligations, he saves his 'face' by substituting an organic 'I cannot' for the more humiliating admission, 'I will not because I fear I shall fail!'"—Written by W. Beran Wolfe, M. D., in Medical Economics, March, 1932.

L. R. L.: "Will you please tell me what is a remedy for syphilis in its first stages?"

Answer: The standard treatment for syphilis in the early stages is by the use of one or a combination of three drugs—mercury, arsenophenamine and bismuth. What drug is used and how it is used depends upon the age of the patient, the severity of the disease, and what part of the body is attacked, etc.

Here it is, wet election weather, and now go ahead and make your prognostications as to who it will favor. The lad who depends upon the country vote says it will aid his cause, for the farmer can't work his fields. The other side believes it will keep folks in the city at home and the answer is that neither side is right, in all probability.

People who want to vote will vote and that in spite of wet weather. Makes it a little more convenient, but nobody is that far from the polls that they can't get down.

Saw a lad with more than just a little money on him yesterday. Assistant Federal District Attorney William J. Aiken of Pittsburgh. Down in his jeans he had $199,000, in certificates, for the postoffice site, which was more than enough to buy lunches for the crowd he was in.

There was a time when Bill didn't have that much money on him, in fact there was a time when a five dollar bill looked like the sub-treasurer. Those were the days when the engineer of this column and Aiken were together in Camp Hancock, Georgia.

Aiken was the editor of the Camp Hancock "Trench and Camp" in those days and decided to make a newspaper out of some very raw material from New Castle. He was a lawyer by profession but a newspaperman at heart, and no matter how far he goes in the legal profession, down deep in his heart he will always be a newspaper man.

The first column we ever conducted was under the supervision of Bill Aiken. A classic effort that "Hancock-a-Doodles" was the title and did we strut. "Fables in Slang" was another feature from the prolific pen of the boy wonder from New Castle, and for some reason Aiken felt that he ought to lend a hand in the development of the stuff.

Perhaps you'll be surprised to know that they all came from the Slippery Rock creek, which seems to indicate that all the fish are not dead yet out there.

In one day Mr. Furst succeeded in snaring four ten-inch trout, one 15-inch trout, one 17-inch and one 17½. All of which is considerable trout fishing for one day in one stream.

BABY DIES AFTER

EATING TABLETS

YOUNGSTOWN, O., April 26.—Jean Cleary, 17 months old, is dead today, the victim of her baby curiosity. Her parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Cleary, took Jean to Canton yesterday. While they were visiting friends, Jean was put to bed.

Flora H. Rose, 73, was fatally burned late last night, when her skirt ignited from a gas stove as she was preparing for bed. Her body was burned beyond recognition.
